T. Sheridan noted that the $46,000 is capital so it can be carried forward to spend next year.

7. CEO Update

Discussion:

C. Budgell highlighted the CEO's report as provided. Reallocation of staff hours for more customer service focused roles was discussed, and a new future position for a Business and Digital Services Librarian who would be fundamental in the development of the planned Makerspace and services for the community. New job descriptions are underway looking forward to the future of the Library and what it can offer to the community. Postings for transitions into new roles will be posted internally first, then to the public if they cannot be filled, with a potential start date of Jan. 1, 2017 for new roles.

C. Budgell discussed the possibility of opening on Sundays and how doing so would be covered by our current budget. Starting after the September long weekend the Library will be open on Sundays from 12-4 on a trial basis and opening at 9:30 am Monday-Saturday. C. Budgell will be monitoring Library use on Mondays and Fridays from 5-6 to see if the Library should close during these times to help subsidize the additional Sunday hours.

C. Budgell discussed the current status of the website transition. A quote is expected that will move our website to a WordPress based platform, allowing the Library staff more control over the content as well as making it more user friendly. T.
